MUSIC FOR THE BODY

High-energy, groove-driven techno designed for movement, connection and intense dancefloor experiences.

About Bio

LOCAMODULA is an Argentine DJ, producer and vocalist based in France, creating electronic sets where rhythm becomes a physical force of movement and connection.

Her sound is driven by deep basslines, bouncy grooves and hypnotic structures, with touches of acid and psy-influenced textures. Each set is built for the body — dynamic and immersive.

On the dancefloor, LOCAMODULA creates spaces of freedom where music and collective energy merge. Her performances transform clubs into rituals of connection, where rhythm becomes a shared language.

Her Latin roots bring a distinctive rhythmic identity to her sound, shaping a unique blend of intensity, groove and organic flow.

Artistic Identity

Dance & Connection

Her artistic vision is centered on dance and body connection as a form of expression and freedom. Her music is designed for movement — blending techno with groove-driven structures, hypnotic sequences and percussive energy. Each set creates a direct dialogue between body and sound, where rhythm becomes a physical experience.

Sound & Style

Rooted in techno, her sound draws from the past, present and future of electronic music. Blending groove-driven structures with subtle house influences and a distinctive Latin touch, her sets combine bouncy rhythms, deep basslines and hypnotic textures, always focused on movement, energy and high-impact dancefloor connection.
